PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

JOB PRINTING

EXECUTED, with neatness and despatch, at the Office of the PITTSBURGH GAZETTE. April 26

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, SEPTEMBER 6, 1833.

There has been, it seems, some controversy between the editors of the Richmond Compiler and Wheeling Times, as to the application of the words, "Your worthy Chief Magistrate," in Mr. Webster's speech, at this place; the former contending that he meant the President, and the latter, that he referred to our Mayor. Our neighbor, at Wheeling, proposes to refer the matter to the editors in this place. We give our award in his favor: there is, in fact, no doubt about it. The speech was in reply to our Mayor, and adhered closely to the topics mentioned by the Mayor, and introduced no other. The us of the pronoun "your," seems, to our mind, decisive, if any doubt existed. If Mr. Webster had referred to the President, he would surely have said "our Chief Magistrate," thereby designating the chief magistrate of the whole country—of Pennsylvania, as well as of Massachusetts. As to the propriety of this use of the word, we will only mention that Webster's Dictionary expressly says that the title "magistrate" is more particularly applicable to inferior officers, as intendants, prefects, Mayors, &c.

The very pretty invitation to the Fair, by a "Visiter," was not received until after six o'clock on the evening of the 5th instant, after our paper had been distributed. Its publication would now be too late, being "a day after the fair." If a Visiter could have borrowed the "Carrier Pigeon," to convey his communication, it might have reached us in time, and we would most cheerfully have given it a place.

COMMUNICATED.

The citizens of Pittsburgh, opposed to Secret Societies, are respectfully invited to assemble at Wray's Hotel, in Fourth street, on Saturday evening, at 7 o'clock. MANY.

Friday, Sept. 6, 1833.

A CARD.

To the Engine and Hose Companies of Pittsburgh and Allegheny town, and those citizens who exerted themselves at the late fire, in the Borough. The thanks of the subscribers are justly due—the only return, at the present, which they are capable of making, and this return is now made, under a proper sense of obligation to those whose exertions, on the night of the 23d ult., saved a great deal of property from destruction.

DAVIS & MORRISON.

Allegheny, Sept. 6, 1833.

We most heartily concur in the sentiments expressed in the following article, and would be pleased to see all parties unite in declaring that an individual, appointed to the Supreme Bench, shall have no eye to further promotion, and no ambition, except for a faithful discharge of his duty.

"Concurring as we do fully in the views taken in the subjoined article, sent to us by an enlightened friend, we cordially adopt it as our own.

We hope there may be now, ere parties are committed, such a general expression of opinion throughont the country, as to the absolute incompatibility of a seat on the bench of the Courts of the United States, with any aspiration to political office, as will at once establish, as a principle, that a Judge of the United States is not and should not be at liberty to seek or accept any other office.

The acceptance of the ermine should be deemed a renunciation of every view of ambition, except that of fitly discharging the duties of the judicial station.

Another Judge in Nomination.—The nomination of Mr. B. W. Leigh, as a candidate for the Presidency, does not appear to unite all voices in Virginia. We are not sufficiently apprized of the nature of the public services, on which Mr. Leigh's friends found his claims, to judge whether any deficiency, in that respect, occasions this want of unanimity. In some quarters, it would appear, that the difficulty consists in the interference of Mr. Leigh's pretensions with those of the Hon. P. P. Barbour—a judge of the District Court of the United States; whose friends, it is said, in the Virginia papers, ought immediately to take measures to prevent a collision with those of Mr. Leigh. Of Judge Barbour we know more than of Mr. Leigh, whose character, as a politician, probably rests—at least beyond the limits of Virginia—exclusively on his embassy to the Sovereign State of South Carolina. It is not, however, our purpose to contrast the rival claims of these two gentlemen to the chief magistracy of the United States. We do not deem the time to be arrived, perhaps not even to be approaching, when the people will be called to choose between them.

But this is the second Nomination of a Judge; and it is our present purpose to raise our humble voice, upon a point of principle, and to protest against involving the bench, and particularly the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States, in the conflicts of party politics. Judge Barbour, it is true, fills a subordinate station in the judicial department; a station, as his friends may think, below his professional merits. But there is no judicial station beyond the reach of bias from political interest and party strife; and there is none beneath the obligation, on the part of judges, to keep themselves free from every influence, which can possibly warp their judgment, or impair public confidence in their decisions.

These considerations, as we think, apply with irresistible force to the distinguished functionaries, who adorn the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States. On this subject, we wish to speak most respectfully, as far as our remarks have a personal bearing, but strongly and plainly on the matter of principle. It is well known, that one of the judges of the Supreme Court of the United States is announced, by his friends, as a candidate for the Presidency. No nomination, by any organized body, as far as we recollect, has taken place; but in various parts of the country his name has been brought forward, in the manner in which such annunciations are usually made, and a paper is to be established, as we are told, at Washington, to advocate his pretensions. Now perhaps we think as favorably of the gentleman alluded to, as can be expected of unprejudiced observers, willing to give every public man, in his place, the meed of respect, to which his talents and services entitle him. We do not wish to utter one word, which can be thought to savor of unkindness or disrespect towards Judge McLean. But we apprehend that very great objections, on principle, exist to his nomination, as a candidate for a great office in the gift of the people.

If there is any one principle, which we may assume to be uncontested, it is this—that the Judgment seat must be beyond suspecion, as well as beyond reproach. How can it be skreened from either, if the names of the Judges seated upon it are to be bandied from side to side, in the arena of party strife? If Judge McLean, or any other magistrate, could float into the Presidency, on the calm and steady tide of a unanimous popular will, it would be a different thing. But our elections are contested. They have at least two sides; it will be well if the next has no more. Can any man, making this a matter of principle, whatever may be his feelings of kindness for Judge McLean, really think that it is desirable or proper, that a state of things should be created, which will enlist five hundred presses throughout the Union against one of the Judges of the Supreme Court, and five hundred others as his champions? There are, it is well known, great constitutional questions now before the Supreme Court, having more or less bearing on the political topics of the day. How is it possible, that the Court should retain that hold on the public respect, without which it cannot stand, if its members, off the bench, are to be involved, as party candidates, in those questions, which, as Judges, they are expected to decide, on it. Suppose the tariff party nominate one Judge, and the anti tariff party another, and pending the canvass, the question of the constitutionality of the tariff should be brought before the Court—would the country at large place any confidence in the judicial opinions of Judges so circumstanced, on that question? This view of the matter would be greatly strengthened, if we were to run over the questions now actually pending, and enumerate the States concerned in them; and the great party controversies on which they have a bearing. But we will not at present enlarge.—N. Y. Amer.

LATEST FROM MEXICO.

New Orleans papers contain advices from the city of Mexico, to 27th of July, from Vera Cruz to the 3d, and from Tampico to the 4th August.

It is rendered very evident that the insurrection of Arista, and his band, will soon be put down.—President Santa Anna was at Arroyosarco, advancing upon the latter, who was fortifying his position at Juan del Rio. General Valencia had occupied Cuernavaca, and totally defeated the division under Colonel Valacios, one of the rebel chiefs. It was expected that Santa Anna would, in a very few days, strike a decisive blow, and put a final end to the present struggle.

The military movements against Tampico had been suspended, and order and tranquillity restored in that quarter. Business at Tampico was very dull.

The Cholera had reached Zacatecas and Aquas Calientes, where its ravages were severely felt.—At San Louis Potosi it was subsiding, and had entirely disappeared from Vera Cruz.

A letter from the latter place, dated the 1st inst., says, "The contending armies were both near Mexico. No battle had been fought—it was expected that some concessions would be made on both sides. The ship Congress, for New York, was to sail August 5th."

The Barque EA arrived yesterday morning at Baltimore from Vera Cruz, with papers to the 27th of July. For the subjoined paragraphs we are indebted to the editors of the Republican:—

The supreme government received intelligence from Gen. Valencia, by which the fall of Cuernavaca, and the total rout of the division headed by Angel Perez Palacios, is officially announced. In every direction the operations of the federal army had been attended with triumph, and, as it is expressed, the liberty of the Mexicans is about to be insured forever.

Southern Division.—To his Excellency the Minister of War. After a tremendous firing of cannon and small arms, which lasted five hours, and a most obstinate resistance, Angel Perez Palacios has been completely routed, with all the troops under his command. A great number of prisoners, arms, and other effects, remaining in my possession. Cuernavaca is consequently in the hands of the supreme government.

The shortness of my time does not allow me to particularize individuals. I am only able to observe that the officers and soldiers who have cooperated in this brilliant action, are all heroes, all worthy of the consideration of the government.

I have the honor of forwarding this communication to your Excellency, that you may apprize his Excellency, the Vice President, of the same, to whom you will present my warmest congratulations, accepting, at the same time, for yourself, the most friendly assurances of my esteem and regard. God and liberty!

GABRIEL VALENCIA.

Cuernavaca, July 25, 1833.

MEXICO, July 24.—The President proceeded, yesterday, from Tula to Arroyosarco, Duran being at St. Juan del Rio. The brilliant division Zacotecas has probably entered into Guanajusto.—Many desert from Duran; some present themselves to the Liberator, and others fly to the mountains.

Gen. Valencia was last night at Ajosco.

MEXICO, July 25.—On the 23d inst., his Excellency, Gen. Santa Anna, passed the night with his division, at the farm at Galeta, and last night must have been at Arrayosarco. The factionists, Arista and Duran, after having passed, as we yesterday mentioned, through San Juan del Rio, continue their march towards the interior, devastating farms and harrassing the citizens in their way.

The desertions from their troops extend even to the cavalry; and, although the greater portion abandon their standards to go to their own homes, some of them, amounting to 153 men, presented themselves to his Excellency the President, abjuring their error, and protesting that they will serve their country faithfully under the orders of the legitimate government of the Republic.

We have, finally, every reason to believe, that the present revolution will be quelled, before the expiration of fifteen days.

MEXICO, July 20.—The traitors who reside in the district are urging the assassins, Arista and Duran, to approach this city and attack it, representing to them the disadvantages which they must sustain by removing to the provinces of the interior. This is proved by various communications of theirs, which have been intercepted; and of which his Excellency the Vice President has been apprized.

These wretches are not aware of their true interests. Let the assassins whom they invite come. We await them at our posts; and they will suffer the penalty of their crimes. Their instigators, who are now in the city, will be the first to perish; for the patriots will be unwilling to have to contend with enemies within and without.

The factionists, Arista and Duran, although they intended to march from San Juan del Rio to Queretara, resolved finally not to advance, fearing an attack from his Excellency the President.—They have barely eight field pieces, and they are now between two divisions—that of the warrior of Zempoala, at the farm of Arroyosarca, and that of Cuesta, who awaits them at Queretaro. These wretches must soon succumb to the force of liberty, and the overwhelming influence of public opinion.

MEXICO, July 27.—This day at 10 o'clock, A. M., the supreme government received official intelligence from his Excellency the President. He is now with his division at Arroyosarco, and the enemy remains at San Juan del Rio, without daring to advance a step towards Queretara, or to retrograde, fearing to be attacked by the division under the command of the warrior of Zempoala.

FACTS WORTH REMEMBERING.

Revenue increased by diminishing Duties.—This is a process, of which there have been a thousand proofs from time to time published. In the latest Edinburgh Review, an article on taxation affords these additional illustrations of so wholesome and beneficent a truth:

In 1822, when the duty on spirits in Ireland and Scotland was 5s. 6d. per gallon, 2,328,000 gallons in Ireland, and 2,079,000 in Scotland alone paid duty: yet the Commissioners of Excise, in the same year, estimated the consumption of spirits in Ireland at 10,000,000, and in Scotland at about 6,000,000 gallons. In 1823, the duty was reduced to 2s.; and, in 1825, 9,267,000 gallons in Ireland, and 5,918,000 in Scotland, were brought to the charge; and this, as well ascertained, not by reason of increased consumption, but owing to the total suppression of illicit distilleries, consequent upon the reduction of the duty.

In 1808, the consumption of coffee in Great Britain amounted to 1,069,161 lbs., the duty being 1s. 7d. per lb. It was that year reduced to 7d.; and the consumption immediately rose next year to 9,251,837 lbs., and has gone on increasing, (the duty now being 6d. per lb.) till it amounts at present to 23,000,000 lbs. Nor was this increased consumption of coffee at the expense of that of tea; for, in 1808, there were 20,859,929 lbs. of tea consumed in Great Britain; and the next year, although the great increase in coffee was 800 per cent. there was only a falling off of 5 per cent. in the consumption of tea, and that in 1811 had ceased; and now, notwithstanding the immense increase in coffee, the consumption of tea, exclusive of Ireland, is between 26 and 27,000,000 lbs.

On foreign gin, the duty varied for the ten years ending in 1806, from 7s. 6d. to 14s. the gallon; and the annual average quantity that paid duty, was 724,351 gallons. Now, the duty being 22s. 6d. the gallon, the quantity paying duty is only 20,000 gallons, or one thirty sixth part! of what it was 27 years ago. The difference is made up by the quantities smuggled in from Flushing, and other Dutch towns.

The duty on tobacco, in Ireland, in 1799, was 8d. per lb., and 8,455,555 lbs. paid duty that year. In 1832, the population having nearly trebled in the interval, and the duty being raised to 3s. the quantity upon which duty was paid was only 4,344,764 lbs.; yet no one doubts that the Irish smoke, chew, and snuff, quite as much as ever.—N. Y. Amer.

Probable Diffusion of Original Population.—Every system of heathen mythology had its origin in the corruption of patriarchial worship before the dispersion at Babel. There the whole family of man was collected in the descendants of Noah's three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japhet; and thence, at that time, they were scattered abroad by the hand of God, over the world. Japhet colonized the whole of Europe; all those northern regions called Tartary and Siberia; and, in process of time, by the easy pasage of Behring's Straits, the entire continent of America. His son Gomer seems clearly to have been the father of those who were originally called Gomerians; and, by slight variations, were afterwards termed Comarians, Cimmerians, Cymbri, Cumbri, Cambri, and Umbri; and, in later years, Celts, Gauls, and Gaels. These extended themselves over the regions north of Armenia and Bactriana; thence over nearly all Europe, and first planted Britain and Ireland. Magog, Tubal, and Mesech, as we learn from Ezekiel, dwelt far to the north of Judea, and became the ancestors of the Sclavonic or Sarmatian families; the name of Magog still existing under the appellations of Mogli, Monguls, and Mongolians; those of Tubal and Mesech, in Tobolski, Moschici, and Moscow, and Muscovites; Madai was father of the Medes, and Javan of the original inhabitants of Greece, where we may trace the names of his sons, Elishah, Tarshish, Kittim, and Dodanim, in Elis, Tarsus, Cittium, and Dodona. The posterity of Shem were confined to Southern Asia; founding, by his sons, Elam, or Persia, Ashur, or Assyria, a province of Iran, or Great Assyrian Empire of Nimrod, whose son Cush appears to have subdued these descendants of Shem. Arphaxad became the father of the Hebrews and other kindred nations; his descendant Peleg founded Babylonia; and Joktan, stretching far towards the East, probably became the father of the Hindoos. Ophir, one of the sons of Jotkan, is often mentioned in the Scripture as dwelling in a land of gold, to which voyages are made by ships issuing from the Red Sea, and sailing eastward; but Elam and Cush occupied the whole sea coast of Persia, as far as the Indus. This, therefore, brings us to the great peninsula of Hindostan for the seat of Ophir. Lud, the fourth son of Shem, is presumed to be the founder of Lydia; and Aram, the fifth, the father of Mesopotamia and Syria. Ham was at first mixed with Shem throughout Southern Asia; and became the sole occupant of Africa. Of his sons, Cush became the founder of Iran, or Central Asia, the great Assyrian empire, and the progenitor of all those called Cushim, Cushas, Cuths, Goths, Scyths, Scots, or Gauls. Mizraim peopled Egypt; Phut, the western frontier of Egypt, and thence passing west and south, spread over the greater part of Africa; and Canaan, it is well known, peopled the tract afterwards occupied by the Israelites. Thus, it is said, was the world peopled; and that it was thus peopled, we learn not only from Moses, but from profane writers; and find both accounts confirmed by abundant evidence in the manners, traditions, language, and occupance of the different races at the present day. Sir William Jones found only three great original languages to exist—Arabic, Sclavonic, and Sanscrit; and these three all issue from one point, Central Asia, whence, by consent of the most ancient records and traditions of the great primeval nations, their original ancestors spread.—Howitt's History of Priestcraft.

Italian Fig Tree.—Among the time worn ruins of the ancient castle at Reculver, in the island of Thanet which forms part of the county of Kent, an ancient fig tree stretches forth its venerable arms to the breeze, and attracts the attention of the visiter, not more by the venerable aspect it presents, than by the historical records with which it is connected.—This tree, according to the traditions of the neighborhood, claims Italy for the soil of its nativity, and Roman hands for those of its first planters; its age, consequently, cannot be less than from 1345 to 1888 years, the Romans having first landed at Deal in the summer of the 55th year before the birth of our Saviour, 1888 years ago, and finally quitted Britain in the year of our Lord 488, 1345 years ago. Could this patriarchal tree but relate the various changes it has seen, and the political, as well as physical convulsions it has experienced, what an eventful history it could furnish!

Parisian Manufactures.—One of the most positive signs of the present improving state of France is the amount of the duties of manufactured articles in gold and silver. This manufacture is almost exclusively confined to Paris, and of all articles of luxury, these are always the first to feel the effect of any political or commercial crisis, and the last to revive with the return of peace and prosperity. The following is a statement of the produce of those duties during the last three years:—1830—First six months, 529,040f; second six months, 304,935f. 1831—First six months, 330,721f; second six months, 424,980f. The first six months of the present year have produced 490,854f. Thus it appears that the manufacture was less in the first half year of 1831, than immediately after the days of July; and, on account of the repeated disturbances, did not begin to revive until the measures of the Government had restored the country to security and confidence. Relaxed again by the cholera, and the events of June in last year, it resumed fresh vigor in the second half of the year, and during the last six months has reached a point almost equal to the maximum for many years. Such facts as these are the best answer to those who deny that industry and commerce have improved.—Journal de Paris.

Marriage of Catholic Priests.—The question of the right of Catholic priests to contract matrimonial engagements in France is about to be tried in a way which will probably set it to rest. Mr. Leloup, a priest of the newly established "French Catholic Church," has made application to the Mayor of his arrondissement that his bans of marriage may be published in the usual way. The Mayor has required time to consider the application, and take legal advice. As it has been already settled in France that the marriage of a priest is valid, because there is no law in the civil code that forbids it, the Mayor will probably do as he has been requested by M. Leloup, and the marriage may take place. But should the Mayor refuse to publish the bans, Mr. Leloup intends in that case to bring the matter before a court of law. It is to be remarked, however, that M. Leloup, though a Roman Catholic priest, originally ordained in the usual way, now belongs to the new sect which do not acknowledge the laws of the Roman Church. But the effect, in the course of a few years, will be to convert the greater part of the Catholic priests and Catholic Christians in France to the faith adopted by the new sect, whose followers have been greatly increasing in numbers for some time past. This "French Catholic" religion will become the religion of the country, and the small remnant of the Pope's authority which exists at present, will be made to disappear as completely as the progress of the reformation has made it disappear in Great Britain. Religion has suffered in France on account of its close connection with the Church of Rome and with the Jesuits, and because the rulers of the country had always contrived to make it an instrument for the better subjection of the people; but now that they see a church established among them for no other purpose than the promotion of religion itself, and entirely free from political connection, the French people appear disposed to rally round that church and make it prosper.—Letter from Paris.

Early History of the West.—Mann Butler, Esq., of Louisville, is engaged in writing a History of Kentucky. In the absence of authentic materials, he has submitted, through the Louisville Herald, a number of interrogatories—a part of which are as follow:

8th. Is there any personal knowledge of the capture of Kaskaskia, in 1778?

9th. If so, what was the British force in men and artillery?

10th. What was the time of the attack, in the day or night?

11th. Is there any personal knowledge of the discontents and their causes, in the unfortunate campaign of the great western hero, General G. R. Clarke, against the Wabash Indians, in 1787, from this place?

12th. If so, was Clarke opposed to the delay at Post St. Vincents, and what officers were disaffected towards him, and why?

13th. Is there any authentic knowledge of the prices of Tobacco at this place and New Orleans in 1787, when Gen. Wilkinson contracted with the Spanish Government to deliver it at ten dollars per hundred weight?

14th. Is there any knowledge of Major Roger's instructions on the object of his expedition to New Orleans, from Pittsburgh, about 1777, by orders from Virginia?

Any notice of the above interrogatories will be thankfully received, either through the public papers, or by letter, directed to Messrs. Wilcox & Dickerman, Booksellers, Louisville, or to the subscriber, at the same place.

MANN BUTLER.

August 12, 1833.

Sending Coals to New Castle.—Cincinnati has heretofore been the great Western Mart for bacon, and from which immense quantities have been annually transported through this place to the east. This year the tables are turned. A house in this place, a few days since, purchased the whole quantity in market here, amounting to 200,000 lbs. and shipped it to Cincinnati, where a ready sale was effected, and a handsome profit made on the speculation.—Wheeling Times.

A new Article.—We recommend to those enterprizing manufacturers, Many & Ward, to read the following paragraph from the Schenectady Whig:

"We were shown, a few days since, a wash stand of cast iron. The form of its construction renders it a more elegant article of furniture than those in common use. The inventor is Mr. Riply, of this city, who has, we understand, taken out letters patent for his improvement."

Not only may wash stands but chairs be made of iron, and those intended to stand in halls particularly. The iron manufactories in this country have yet an opportunity before them, of realizing great profits both from useful and ornamented articles, which will be preferred by all who have taste or study utility.—Albany D. Adv.

A writer in the Richmond Whig having suggested that Washington Irving would be the fittest biographer of John Randolph, the editor of that paper thus treats the subject:

"It is an insult to old Virginia, to think of going beyond her limits for the biographer of Randolph. Could he who was more deeply imbued with the spirit of State partiality, than any man that ever existed, whose feelings were so strongly Virginian, that he would never call "a chew of tobacco" any thing but "a chaw of tobacco," after the old Virginia pronunciation, who considered it unpardonable affectation in a son of the "Old Dominion," to call "corn bread," any thing but "Indian pone," could such a man rise from his grave, and learn that the task of writing his Memoirs was entrusted to another than a Virginian, and more especially to one who had no one feeling in common with the Southern politician, he would receive the information with the deepest indignation."

We entirely agree with the Whig, though from essentially different views, that for the biography of such a man, Mr. Irving's pen should not—we feel that it could not, worthily—be employed.—There was, in our judgment, no single element of true greatness in the character, talents, or career of Mr. Randolph. Brilliant eccentricity, and we dare say, a deep "spirit of State partiality," (which as recently developed, means any thing but sound American feeling,) were the points about him which attracted and sustained the public gaze; but these are qualities which the biographer of Columbus could hardly be called upon to record.—N. Y. Amer.

Rum and Razors.—A countryman sent to his friend in the city for a barrel of rum, for family use—and received, in addition to the rum, a case of razors—with this significant remark, in a letter—"One is slow and sure—the other quick and certain."—N. Y. Gazette.

According to a census, lately taken, the thirty nine States of the Germanic Confederation contain 36,281,578 inhabitants. The contingents of troops in 1818 amounted to 302,272 men; but, in 1833, there were 362,815 men, making an increase of 60,543 men.

Negro Insurrection.—Captain Doughty, arrived yesterday from Matanzas, in twelve days, informs that an express arrived at that place, from Havana, on the day of his sailing, with the information that an insurrection had broke out at Havana, among the negroes, and that from 4 to 500 of them had been shot.—N. Y. Gaz.

The National Intelligencer, referring to a motion in the British House of Commons for the abolition of sinecures, says, shrewdly enough—

"If the example of the British Reformers should find favor in the eyes of any of our Congressmen, we can name sinecures enough that might be abolishsd, without the least injury to the public service. We would begin with the clearest case, that of the office of Fourth Auditor: though we do not know that the office of Post Master General might not be dispensed with at even less sacrifice of public convenience; for, under present arrangements, the incumbent seems to have no duties to perform.

"The Post Master General has been all summer traveling—and, upon the whole, affairs have gone on better in his absence—and the Fourth Auditor, it is known, is now on a tour of banking reconnoisance."

The American Quarterly Review is to be considerably improved in appearance and contents, after the forthcoming number. It will be published under the superintendence of those energetic young book sellers, Messrs. Key & Biddle; because the multifarious nature of their multiplied business prevents the present publishers from giving it the attention requisite. Its list of contributors will be considerably increased by some of the ablest of our literati in every state of the Union—many of whose names have been enumerated to us; gentlemen of eminence in their various professions, who must ensure success to any undertaking. We trust we shall then have this Quarterly Review, worthy of our country, and worthy of its name: indeed we do not doubt this, if the able contributors will perform their promises.—Amer. Sentinel.

MONEY MATTERS.

It has been stated in some of the public papers, and also on Change, that there existed a scarcity of money, which is caused by the curtailment of discounts by the United States Bank in this city. If there is any scarcity of money in Wall street, it has not, we believe, reached the community generally, for never within our recollection has there been so much life and activity at this season of the year among the merchants, as at the present time. The amount of business done is immense and with apparent ease and confidence. To satisfy ourselves, however, of the alleged cause, we have applied to a source on which perfect reliance can be placed for correct information, and learn that the Branch in this city, within the last sixty days, has increased, instead of diminishing, their discounts about eight hundred thousand dollars; that they have purchased exchange on England and France to the Amount of half a million; and drafts on Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Boston to the amount of a million and a half; and that during the last two months, the city banks have owed the Branch an average daily cash balance of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Thus it appears that if any scarcity exist in the community generally, it is not owing to the operations of the United States Bank, for they have, as it appears, extended instead of curtailed their discounts and purchases of exchange.

The following lines were written for the Pittsburgh Orphan Asylum Society's Fair:—

THE FAIR.

Wilt thou not buy, where gentle Pity buys,
These little offerings of humble art,
Wilt thou not buy our fairy merchandise,
And trade with us—the merchants of the heart?

To thatch, anew, the Orphan's little cot—
To build for homeless childhood a sweet home—
O, 'tis to lay up treasure where we ought!
And draw down sweeter blessings on our own!

When Woman may not strive for childhood left
Without a Mother's love, or Father's arm—
Who then on earth will succor the bereft,
And shield the innocent from sin and harm?

O, 'tis to give the parting spirit rest!
To take in sacred pledge the widow's gem,
To snatch the offspring from the icy breast,
To save the green bud on its broken stem.

O, 'tis to cherish those whose daily bread
Was gathered from the wild wood, where it grew;
For whom the Red Breast made their leafy bed,
And pitying tears were shed in gentle dew—

To pluck the wily passion from the breast,
To guide their bleeding feet from evil ways,
Teach them to read a Saviour's rich bequest,
And tune their lips to sing their Maker's praise.

Come, for her sake, this little orphan maid;
Come, for his sake, this little orphan boy,
And buy us out—our fairy stock in trade—
And leave us only gratitude and joy.

PROSPECT HILL
Literary & Scientific Institution.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.

ON the 1st of July, Mr. DANIEL STONE intends opening, near the City of Pittsburgh, an Institution for the instruction of boys. Its plan is to combine, as far as possible, the peculiar advantages of a domestic and public education.—The pupils, with the principal and assistants, will constitute one family, and be at all times under careful supervision. The Discipline will be mild, but strict, such as a father, solicitous for the welfare of his children, would exercise over them. It is believed that an appeal to reason, and the sense of honor and duty, will generally secure obedience. Coercive measures will, therefore, be adopted only in extreme cases.

The Course of Study will embrace the English, Latin, Greek, and French Languages; Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry; Geography and History—Ancient and Modern; Rhetoric, Composition, and Elocution; Natural Philosophy and Chemistry; Penmanship, Orthography, and Reading. Frequent examinations will be held, open to the friends and relations of the youths.

The Mode of Instruction will be thorough and critical, and no subject will be relinquished until fully understood. That the scholar's mind may become vigorous, active, and self-confident—prepared for the stern conflicts of life, and a fearless discharge of its duties, he will be encouraged to reason and decide for himself.

Each student will be required to attend such church as his parent or guardian shall designate.

To preserve health and elasticity of spirits, to check indolence, and promote industry among the students, they will be daily exercised in athletic sports.

Pupils will be admitted between the ages of Six and Sixteen. None can be received for less than one term.

The uniform Dress will consist of a cap, blue roundabout, with metal buttons, and blue pantaloons. Every article of clothing should be marked with the owner's name in full.

The Terms are two hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly in advance. This includes Tuition, Board, Lodging, Washing, Mending, Light, and Fuel.

The Vacations, after the present year, will be three—the 1st, of two weeks, from the 3d Wednesday in April; the 2d, of four weeks, from the 2d Wednesday in August; and one week at Christmas.

The Matron's department will be under the care of Mrs. Reynolds, of this city.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.
Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞ A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a l cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

TRAVELLERS.

THE LINE OF STAGES between Chambersburgh and Baltimore, on the Somerset and Mountpleasant route, has been doubled, and now runs DAILY, (Mondays excepted,) leaving Chambersburgh at day-light in the morning, and arriving in Baltimore, early the same evening.

Passengers reach Philadelphia, in this way, the second afternoon, from Chambersburgh, without the loss of any rest; taking the splendid STEAM BOAT LINES, which set out at 6 o'clock in the morning, [via CHESAPEAKE AND DELAWARE CANAL, a work well worth the trip to see.]

REESIDE, Owner.

In all cases where the passengers desire to reach Baltimore in time for the 5 o'clock steam-boat to Philadelphia, they can do so by leaving Chambersburgh at one o'clock in the morning, or immediately after the arrival of the Western Mail Stage. In this way, they arrive in Philadelphia, by eight o'clock the second morning, from Chambersburgh.

☞ When a load offers, the stage will run on Mondays. April 23, 1830.—tf.

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.

Orders from all parts in the Union will be promptly and most carefully attended to, and particularly in supplying sorts for all founts furnished by their predecessors, Binny & Ronaldson, and Richard Ronaldson.
